Postage—North and South.

Only 5 States, out of the 31 comprising the Union, show an excess of Post Office receipts over the expense for the year ending 30th June 1857, as stated by a report recently made to Congress by the Post Office Department. Of these five States, Rhode Island is one; the others are Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania.

The whole expenses of the Department, for the year, were $9,851,012, including transportation of mails. Total receipts $7,710,307. Deficit, $2,140,705. Of their deficit, $374,931 was in the Free States—and $2,430,733, in the Slave States. That is to say, the deficiency in Post Office revenue in the South is more than six times as great as in the Free State.

The clear earnings of the department in the State of New York alone, ($433,533), will more than offset the deficiency of all the Free States, while the South is nearly two and a half million of dollars behind hand. And this is just about the state of the game, year after year.

Wouldn't it be well for Senator Hammond to set up another shout over the poverty and glory of King Cotton?

Slavery.

"As your country grows in years, you must also cause it to grow in science, literature, arts, and refinement. It will be for you to develop its resources, to check its faults of manners as they rise, and to advance the cause of industry, temperance, moderation, justice, morals, and religion, all around you. On you, too, will devolve the duty which has been too long neglected, but which cannot without impunity be neglected much longer, of providing for the mitigation (and it is too much to hope for in North Carolina?) for the ultimate extirpation of the worst evil that afflicts the Southern part of our Confederacy. Full well do you know to what I refer, for on this subject there is, with all of us, a morbid sensitiveness which gives warning even of an approach to it. Disguise the truth as we may, and throw the blame where we will, it is Slavery which, more than any other cause, keeps us back in the career of improvement. It stifles industry, and represses the enterprise; it is fatal to economy and providence; it discourages skill; impairs our strength as a community, and poisons morals at the fountain head. How this evil is to be encountered, how subdued, is indeed a difficult and delicate inquiry, which this is not the time to examine, nor the occasion to discuss. I felt, however, that I could not discharge my duty, without referring to this subject, as one which ought to engage the prudence, moderation, and firmness of those who, sooner or later, must decisively upon it."—Address of the late Judge Gaston, before the Literary Society of the University of North Carolina.

We would call the attention of our readers to the notice of a work in our advertising columns, entitled the Great West. We have looked through the Book, containing near 600 pages of matter printed on large handsome paper and illustrated by numerous engravings, and feel satisfied, that it is worthy of a liberal patronage. The numerous, various and thrilling incidents of Western History and of Western life, are peculiarly adapted to the popular taste of the East—part of the Union, who have for various reasons, ever felt a deep interest in whatever relates to the haps or mishaps of those hardy and enterprising emigrants, now become in fact the seat of Empire to our widely extended Republic. A still stronger reason for the interest felt in what ever relates to the History of the Great West, is furnished by the fact, that scarcely a day passes, that some of our relations, friends or fellow citizens, are not leaving as thousands have already left their early homes, to find another and we hope a better, in the Western States and Territories.

In this work the reader will find a mass of reliable information in regard to the history of the Great West, from its earliest settlement to the present time which can be found in no other that we are acquainted with; and we wish the gentleman Mr. David D. Sherman who has the agency for the sale of this work in Newport county, all the success which his labors to diffuse useful information so justly merit.

FOODER'S LADY'S BOOK for the month of April, is replete with useful information, entertaining, and well written stories, beautiful fashion plates, new and beautiful patterns for embroidery—with homely and wholesome strictures upon society. The adjourned Democratic State Convention was held at Providence, Thursday last, and the following gentlemen were nominated for State officers:—

Governor—Alexander Duncan of Providence.

Lieutenant Governor—Elisha H. Potter of South Kingstown.

Secretary of State—John H. Weedon.

Attorney General—Walter S. Burges of Cranston.

General Treasurer—Edward F. Newton of Newport.

Three Things that Should be Done.

1. The seat of Government should be permanently removed from the city of Providence.
2. Practising lawyers should be excluded from our legislative halls otherwise than in their professional character.
3. What is called the Revised Statutes of 1857 should be annulled and our laws as previously enacted, restored to their original authority, and so remain until the services of some competent person or persons, either in or out of the State, can be obtained to digest the same judiciously and honestly.

Reasons why.—1st. Most of the States of this Union have found it necessary to remove their legislative bodies from contact with the contaminating influences of large cities. The population of the city of Providence bears a greater ratio to that of Rhode Island, than can be found to exist between that of any other city and State in America.

2d. There is not a peculiar caste or class of men on earth whose action are not in the main, in the direction of their interest, exceptions only prove the rule. It is to the interest of lawyers that our laws should be as complex, mysterious and confused as possible that they may be paid to explain them.

Again—our judicial tribunals are much interfered with, and justice (so-called) greatly retarded, on account of lawyers being engaged in the General Assembly whilst the Courts are or should be in session. And again—lawyers are so accustomed to falsify facts and the truth for hire in a professional way that the science is apt to become a second nature, that disposes them to mingle their official and professional services together. Again—lawyers can be approached with a bribe much more readily than other members of the Assembly without fear of detection. As for instance, Squire Hanks has a law suit pending in the Courts, and is also interested in some bill pending in the Assembly, whereupon Hanks winks at Lawyer Sly, counsel for the plaintiff, and member of Assembly, & hands him a thousand $100 of course pockets the insult and says nothing, for how could he or any one else prove but that Hanks merely meant to be generous to his legal counsel.

3d. The Revised Statutes (so called) were mainly concocted by bad lawyers, in bad taste and in bad faith, and were foisted on the General Assembly and people of this State through the medium of craft, chicanery and deception. It would not be difficult to show that the stealthy and unnoted introduction of one little clause therein, places the whole property of the State without the protection of the laws, and vests its title in the will of one man, and virtually creates a permanent fund for the benefit of the lawyers at the expense of other citizens to the amount of millions of dollars.

The amendment was rejected by yeas 43; nays 143.

Mr. Quitman's bill for the raising of five regiments of volunteers was then ordered to be engrossed for a third reading, by 128 against 74, and was finally passed by 121 against 73.

SPRING IS COMING.

BY FRANK MYRTLE.

Spring is coming, Spring is coming! Don't you hear her in the hills, Tepping gaily o'er the valley, Flying o'er the sunny hills, Nature leaps to meet her coming, With her tresses waving through: Glad come Spring! with joy we greet thee, With a cheerful voice of song.

Spring is coming! Spring is coming! She is in the Southern breeze; Merely the birds are singing, Martins in the forest trees. Modest violets are springing, From the glad some earth's white, And the butter cups and daisies Greet her, with a lover's smile.

Spring is coming, Spring is coming! Tiny heads venture out and show, Tortois that for months have slumbered, Hasten seaward with a shout, Wagon wheels kiss the flowers, Butterflies are on the wing, Birds have set the day to marry, And invited guests to sing.

Spring is coming, Spring is coming! Joyous bears the pulse of life; Weary ones, almost desponding, Starts anew to meet the strife; Nature's bosom throbs with pleasure; Spring has set the captives free, Earth, with all her teeming millions, Grins the song of jubilee!

EREMIAH S. ROSS, 120 Wickenden street. Providence, May 20, 1857.

C. A. P. Mason.—Dear Sir—I am now using the Alpine Hair Balm, which I had of you, with most happy results. On the 30th of June last, my hair (which had been gray for more than six years) was fast falling off; but on the third application of the Balm it ceased falling, and is now firmly rooted, and very nearly its original color. By the use of one bottle, I confidently expect a complete, permanent, luxuriant and original head of hair. If every gray haired skeptic would try it, they would soon become "living epistles, known and read of all men," as having used the Alpine Hair Balm. Yours, &c.

TENTIMONY OF A LADY OVER 5 YEARS OF AGE.

Mr. Mason, Sir—I write to inform you how much I am indebted to your Alpine Hair Balm. My hair has been gray for a number of years and I have been obliged to wear a front piece and cap; but have always found a difficulty when having a bonnet on to keep the front piece from working back and showing the white hair. Finally I concluded I would try your Alpine Hair Balm. I used one bottle and it has now firmly rooted, and very nearly its original color. By the use of one bottle, I confidently expect a complete, permanent, luxuriant and original head of hair. If every gray haired skeptic would try it, they would soon become "living epistles, known and read of all men," as having used the Alpine Hair Balm. Yours, &c.

I have the greatest faith in its virtues and curative powers, and shall do all in my power to make it known to the afflicted. Having this may prove advantageous to you in assisting you to introduce the medicine. am truly yours, M. McCORMICK.

As a remedy for consumption, bronchitis, female debility, asthma, gout, rheumatism, sciatica, eruptions, neuralgia, infantile wasting, emaciation, &c.—it is unequalled. LATEST NEWS.

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE NEWPORT DAILY NEWS.

FROM WASHINGTON.

Special Dispatch to the New York Tribune From our Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, March 20, 1858.—Mr. Foote of Vermont has made a most able and eloquent speech against Leconte, It was delivered without notes, and in a very animated and impressive manner, and gave a vivid picture of the outrages which the people of Kansas had perpetrated upon them. He warmly vindicated them from the President's charge of rebellion. If they were rebels, the men of '76 were rebels. He gloried in such rebellions, and hoped the men of Kansas would stand firm in defence of their rights, making no unworthy concessions, and preferring to die martyrs rather than live slaves. He gave an admirably clear exposition of the pretended submission of the slavery question to the popular vote, pronouncing it a deliberate swindle, and declaring that the President insulted the intelligence of the American people by saying that it had been submitted. Thanks to Governor Walker, the people subsequently had an opportunity to vote upon Leconteism, and had rejected it by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Greene had undertaken to question some of Mr. Foote's statements, but was promptly silenced by the evidence.
